Experience:

September 2020 - Present

Interaction Designer at Frontend.com

I am currently working as an Interaction designer at leading Experience design agency Frontend. In my role as an Interaction Designer, I meticulously craft detailed, interconnected prototypes with the user at the centre. While also maintaining and working on the overall goals of the clients end user.

I have continue to enhance my skills in dealing with requirements set out by clients while balancing the needs and overall user experience.

June 2019 - September 2019

Interaction Design intern at Optum:

For the summer of 2019, I had the amazing opportunity of working with the UXDS team in Optum as part of their TDP program.

During this experience I got to work on live projects, operating as a UX designer, using my skills as a researcher and designer to improve product experiences.

May 2018 - September 2018

AR Trophy Designer for Free Electrons.

As part of the Free electrons program 2018, I won the opportunity to design a trophy for their 2018 award ceremony.

My design fused digital and physical with a mixed reality experience. Working collaboratively with ESB's marketing team, I produced the AR app as well as a physical trophy, all meticulously designed to be one unified experience that reflected the ethos of the program.
